1. The Budaörs airfield was formerly the Budapest commercial airport. Its dimensions are about 3,000 meters east and west, and about 1,200 meters north and south. The runway is about 2,500 meters long by 600 meters wide. The ground surface is fairly smooth, grass covered, and partly provided with artificial drainage.
 2. There are two starting runways, running east-west, about 2,000 meters long and 150 meters wide. The only concrete construction is the apron in front of the hangars, which is 50 meters wide.
 3. There are three hangars. No. 1 (see sketch) is the largest: 120 x 40 meters x 25 meters high. It will hold 25 Yak-9 planes. No. 2 measures 70 x 30 meters x 20 meters high. It will hold 20 Yak-9 planes. No. 3 on the north side of the field, measures 80 x 40 meters by 25 meters high. It will hold 30 Yak-9a.
 4. There is a large repair workshop in the southwest corner of hangar No. 1, and a smaller one adjoining No. 3 on the west.
 5. The field is protected at each of two corners (southeast and southwest) by a 37 mm automatic gun and a 12.7 mm. heavy machine gun.
 6. Entrance to the field is permitted only by a pass from the airfield commander. A day and night watch is kept by a one-man lookout in a tower. Three roving guard posts are maintained in the daytime and six at night.
